EDITORIAL

António Palha
EFS President

We have lived the last EFS Congress, April 2008 in Rome a great moment of vitality of the European Federation of Sexology; the European congress of Sexology. Our great family met in the beautiful capital of the country where the first Congress of our Federation took place (Taormina, 1994).

We are resuming our contacts through this to keep you informed on subjects concerning activities of the Federation and its Executive Committee meeting resolutions.

I would like to inform all of you about the efforts made by the officers of the Federation to extend our action to the eastern European countries. After local visits to Bucharest (Romania) and Budapest (Hungary) where we met representatives of different local groups involved in Sexology, it was possible to have them in the Rome Congress and in the GA where societies were admitted in EFS. It is our intention to continue the policy of visits to eastern countries – Russia (already done), Macedonia and Bulgaria until the end of this year. During this period, it is important to stress for the first time it was possible to have a regular meeting of the Executive Committee: Vienna, December 2006; Sydney, April 2007; Lisbon, November 2007; Rome, April 2008; Brussels, December 2008; London, February 2009, which means a better way of management of EFS affairs.

Our main question in the last months was the preparation of 2010 EFS Congress that would be organized by the Greek society of Sexology (GA decision). Unfortunately, it was not possible to reach an agreement with our affiliated society to sign the contract with AIM under our support as it was proposed. It has lost a great amount of time in these negotiations and so we had to face the problem of a new venue for our next congress. So in the EC meeting in Brussels, December 2008, after giving up the Greek Society and the Catalan Society of Sexology and the expression of strong interest of the Portuguese Society of Sexology (PSS), it was accepted to hear representatives of it's board and a proposal for the 2010 Congress happened in Brussels. Having in mind the urgency to take a resolution on the 2010 EFS congress and the information on local facilities given by the Portuguese team, it was decided unanimously to accept the proposal of the Portuguese Society of Sexology for that purpose.

In what concerns our official scientific journal Sexologies, it has been published by Elsevier Masson SAS in the last three years with some good results, particularly the web download consultations. I am asking you to send your scientific manuscripts and other work to the editorial board in order to transform this journal as a scientific ambassador of the research done by our members societies.

Another important information I want to share with you is the excellent relationship that the EFS EC members have developed with our official PCO-AIM Group. During the preparation of the Rome Congress it was possible to check the high zeal and commitment made by AIM to that action and during the congress all the EFS members could confirm the impression we got beforehand. So we could feel at ease for the next congress, having in mind the defined contract that we have with AIM, some adjustments were proposed during the Rome EC meeting discussion.

I had the hope that through the EFS newsletter to have a serious way of communicating among us but up to now we didn't achieve this goal. We haven't the habitude to give periodical information for our secretariat in order to gather enough amount of news to fill two or three annual newsletters. But we should try to ameliorate our communication with the help of the team of secretariat of EFS. ●

Meeting at WHO

Report of the 2nd meeting at WHO/Europe offices, Copenhagen, 9th of February 2009

As announced in the General Assembly 2008, the European Federation of Sexology as the regional NGO affiliated to WAS is now in official relations with the WHO regional office (EURO).

The liaison between WAS and WHO has four specific points established for 2010-2015:

- communication between WHO and WAS;
- standards of practice;
- expert opinions;
- preparation of papers.

The WHO/Europe region is very large comprising of over 880 million people within the 53 member states. The privilege conferred by the official relationship is the right to appoint a representative to participate in WHO meetings. The official representative (and liaison officer) on behalf of EFS is Kevan Wylie.

During a second meeting with Guñta Lazdane a number of sexual health issues of joint interest were discussed. WHO has 13 strategic objectives of which sexual health may form a part of several including reproductive health (SO 4), HIV and STI (SO 6), health systems (SO 10) as well as mental health, ageing and others.

The most important event this year will be to participate in the Regional Committee meeting in September 2009. This involves all 27 European member states as well as a further 26 member states including Eastern Europe and Central Asia. Participation by other inter government agencies, UN agencies, professional associations and NGO's with official relations is usual. Let's hope that in due course we can work and contribute into the development of a sexual health strategy within the European Union. Please let know Kevan Wylie if you have specific issues you would like him to raise in future meetings.

9th congress of the European Federation of Sexology in Rome

A wonderful time

Chiara Simonelli
Congress President

The 9th Congress of the European Federation of Sexology, "Therapy, Prevention and Promotion of Sexual Well-being", was held in Rome, Italy, from 13th to 17th April 2008. Chiara Simonelli, the President of the Congress, and the host organization, the Institute of Clinical Sexology of Rome, provided a vital forum for debate on the many different areas of Sexology, supported by research findings. The theme of the Congress was the integrated approach, which has allowed an exciting debate among the major international experts of various disciplines, promoting the sharing of a common language and a single aim: the prevention of sexual discomfort and the promotion of the overall well-being of the individual and the couple.

The success of the congress was the result of the participation of many delegates from 50 different countries and of many students and of a wide-ranging scientific program that included 7 pre-congressual workshops, 13 master lectures, 5 plenary sessions, 14 parallel sessions, two round tables and three debates.

During the sessions, there were so many important contributions presented from different scientific perspectives and the involvement of the participants has created interesting discussion. We received 537 abstracts, and the scientific level of the 214 communications and of the 114 posters was excellent.

Gold medals

During the opening ceremony, Gold medals were awarded to António Palha (Portugal), Adriaan K. Slob (Netherlands), Chiara Simonelli (Italy), and Kevan Wylie (Great Britain) for their important contributions to research in the field of sexology.

Georges Abraham (Switzerland) claimed the Gold medal awarded to him at the 8th Congress of the EFS, delivering an interesting Master Lecture on the relationship between sexuality and psychoanalysis.

▲ Pedro Nobre, organiser of the next EFS Congress, António Palha, Sandra Vilarinho, Chiara Simonelli and Kevan Wylie.

The Congress also hosted numerous symposia organized in cooperation with various national and international scientific groups including the ISSC (International Society for Sexuality and Cancer), the FISS (Italian Federation of Scientific Sexology), the ONIG (National Observatory of Gender Identity), the SIA (Italian Andrology Society), the ISS (National Institute of Health), and a master lecture of ESSM (European Society of Sexual Medicine).

▲ Shere Hite, Mireille Bonierbale, Beverly Whipple and the WAS President, Eusebio Rubio Aurioles.

▶ Kevan Wylie receiving a cheque from AIM.

The Scientific Committee awarded prizes to the three most significant research contributions presented at the Congress and the Local Committee gave recognition to the best work carried out by Italian researchers. The Congress concluded with a reminder of the next important appointments at Goteborg (Sweden) in 2009 for the 19th Congress of the WAS and Porto (Portugal) in 2010 for the 10th EFS Congress. ●

Visit to Mozambique

In December 2007, Antonio Palha went in Maputo, capital of Republic of Mozambique, to attend the first national conference on Children Health where he presented a communication on "Psychological aspects of HIV infection in adolescents". He had a meeting with mental health professionals: psychiatrists, psychologists and nurses for seminar on Sexual Health. A group of them have done post-graduation in the Department of Psychiatry and Mental Health (Oporto University) that are able to work on sexual education and clinical sexology. «As I have said in the EC meeting I am trying to organize a Sexological Group, linked with the Portuguese Association of Sexology and I succeed this time, declared the EFS President. By good chance one of the leaders is psychiatrist, Rosel Salomão, who is the actual president of Medical Association of Mozambique and have done a Master thesis with me. I hope the European Federation can help this group through the Portuguese Association.»

Training programs

Training programs for sexologists are core activities to promote higher professional standards in sexology and to educate a new generation of sexologists in Europe. EFS has been active in this field already several years by collecting information of European Centres of Sexology and be organizing workshops and sessions of Teaching sexology in Europe.

EFS Executive Committee decided in 2007 to update the existing information of training programs and authorization in sexology in Europe and to complete this information from other European countries that have member associations in EFS. A member of Executive Committee, Osmo Kontula, was nominated to conduct this information collection. In spring 2009 there exists the requested information already from 22 European countries. This information will be summarized in fall 2009 and presented in EFS conference in Porto in 2010. The aim of this task is to promote more collaboration between training institutes in sexology and to consider possibilities to create some common criteria and requirements for these training programs and also for possible future European Certificate in Sexology.
